

The Hollywood Dog Magazine

We ♥ your dog, we're only human.

413 festive fashions

THE HOLIDAY ISSUE

"I feel like if I don't bite a cat before sundown, I'll go crazy!"
—Snoopy

Kate Walsh and Lucy

America's Next Top Dog Model

Bow Wow!

Grey's Anatomy's Kate Walsh celebrates the season with Lucy, her Basenji mix

Exclusive!
CALLIE THORNE
GETS RESCUED

Deck The Halls
WITH
KRISTIN CHENOWETH AND MADDIE

Our Annual
HOWLIDAY
GIFT GUIDE!

THEHOLLYWOODDOG.COM

$4.99 US $6.99 CAN £3.50 UK

© 2007 EWENET INC. JAN 1, 2007

MODEL CITIZEN

by Larry Ryan

It's a regular rags to riches story for the newly anointed America's Top Dog Model. Mia, a stunning Dachshund from Valencia, California. Despite her current lofty perch at the pinnacle of canine beauty and style, her beginnings were unfortunately, far more humble. The Dachshund was languishing in the unsavory conditions of a breeder in Lancaster, California.

Thankfully, she was spotted by the Ruckelshausen family: "When we got there, the conditions of the kennel were so poor - I was in shock," explains Pam Ruckelshausen. "When I got in the car, I saw my mom holding this cute, little Miniature Dachs hound in her arms."

They shyly liberated the precious pooch and aptly named her Mia - Missing In Action. America's Top Dog Model is fast becoming one of the nation's most popular and esteemed dog contests since the inaugural event in 2005. This year's contest was an elaborate affair with several events leading up to the finale: The Worth Avenue Pet Parade, Big Rosa." Pam says. "Every employee that enters the office gets a personal greeting. When they see her quickly roll onto her back, that is their queue - it's time for a belly rub."

Alongside her plumbing job and her modeling exploits, Mia loves chasing animals in the park and boating with her family. But home is where the heart is. "At nine o'clock sharp every evening," says Pam, "you will see Mia get up off the couch and head down the hallway to her room, where she crawls under the covers, sleeping on her back with her feet straight up in the air." But her publicist declined to comment on the rumor that Mia refuses to get out of bed for less than 10,000 dog treats.

America's Top Dog Model

Mia

Valencia, California 2006

As if winning the Dorothy Bauer-designed Swarovski crown wasn't enough, Mia has been showered with innumerable fabulous prizes since her victory march: a doggie dream house, a luxurious pet chase from Posh Living, a designer pet pillow by Red - For People And Pets. And Mia will take her rightful place on the coveted cover of the 2007 America's Top Dog Model Calendar, with the 11 other finalists following in a pack behind.

Mia has taken to her new role like a duck to water, explains Pam. "She is not familiar with the word 'dog,' she is a 'Princess.'" But don't be alarmed - there have been no Naomi Campbell-style diva tantrums to report of just yet, with her family keeping her paws firmly on the ground. "She is employed at Larry & Joe's Plumbing Supply, and her name tag reads 'The

FOR MORE ON
America's Top Dog Model, visit
americastopdogmodel.com

DON'T BE ALARMED—THERE HAVE BEEN NO NAOMI CAMPBELL-STYLE TANTRUMS JUST YET.

The Annual Doggie Ball, Walk For Wildlife 2006 with Animal Planet's Jeff Corwin, and exclusive events at Three Dog Bakery and Robb Stuckey Interiors. Along the way, there were several evenings of bow-wow fun, with red carpet, "Best Dressed Doggie" events, not to mention a three day photography extravaganza for 40 chic pups. Finally, on May 30th judgment day arrived, with a select panel of independent judges convening to select America's Top Dog Model. And the beautiful, 6-year-old Mia emerged victorious.

Alongside her plumbing job and her modeling exploits, Mia loves chasing animals in the park and boating with her family. But home is where the heart is. "At nine o'clock sharp every evening," says Pam, "you will see Mia get up off the couch and head down the hallway to her room, where she crawls under the covers, sleeping on her back with her feet straight up in the air." But her publicist declined to comment on the rumor that Mia refuses to get out of bed for less than 10,000 dog treats.

MAIL THE PRINCESS

For more on this year's Top Dog Model, visit americastopdogmodel.com